Memphis Press-Scimitar, Jan. 17, 1964

It seems downright immoral for the government to spend $500,000 on a new post office at Hope, Ark., since the old building seems to be O.K. and suits the people over there. The folks put up a good fight against it but bureaucracy is prevailing. Thanks, anyhow, citizens of Hope. You've shown us a good route, and if enough of us follow it, the public will win over all this asinine spending.

Memphis Press-Scimitar, Jan. 21, 1964

Among 151 new federal buildings costing $167,595,700 proposed in President Johnson's budget sent to congress today is the post office and federal building at Hope, Ark., where Editor Alex. Washburn put up a one-man fight and obtained more than 1,000 signatures on petitions opposing construction of a new building.

He contended "the old post office will serve our city." Washburn finally gave up the battle when General Services Administration changed the site for the new building and announced the project would be built.

The budget asked $346,300 for the project.

omatic relations.

"They have agreed, in this connection, to designate their ambassadors within three months."

France is the second major U.S. ally to recognize Communist China. The other was Britain, which opened diplomatic relations early in 1950, before the Korean War. But the Chinese have never agreed to exchange ambassadors with the British, and the top official of the British Mission in Peking is a charge d'affaires.

President Charles de Gaulle's government had informed the United States it would soon recognize the Peking regime. U.S. officials made no secret of their opposition, and President Johnson told a news conference Saturday his government had given its views to France along with an estimate of its general effect on the Atlantic Alliance and the free world in general.

De Gaulle, as expected, gave no outward indication that he was the least bothered by the American opposition.

One cause for U.S. concern was the likely effect of the French recognition on Red China's long battle for a seat in the United Nations.

Recognition was seen at U.N. headquarters as a major breakthrough for the Chinese Communists, but it seemed doubtful that enough nations would switch votes to give Peking a seat at the next session of the general assembly in the fall.

De Gaulle's recognition agreement with Peking was worked out by a former French premier, Edgar Faure, whom De Gaulle sent on an exploratory mission to Red China last fall. Faure had made one private trip to Red China previously, but even then as a former French premier he was widely received.

De Gaulle made the move in an effort to recoup French influence in Southeast Asia and the Far East. He has advanced guaranteed neutralization as a solution for the conflicts in Viet Nam and feels that this can be achieved only if Red China is cut in on the deal.

Satellites Detect Other Launchings

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson disclosed today that two U.S. military spy-in-the-sky satellites have succeeded in detecting a number of intercontinental ballistic missile launchings, both from Florida and from California.

The satellites successfully detected launchings not only of liquid fuel ICBMs—the huge Titan and Atlas boosters—but of the much more compact and swift-climbing, solid-fueled Minuteman ICBM, Johnson said.

Using secret infrared heat-seeking devices, the orbiting spy satellites sent into orbit in 1963 were able to detect ICBM launchings from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

President Johnson's disclosure made it clear that the Defense Department aims to develop a space-based attack alarm system that would "maintain continuous surveillance over ballistic missile launchings on a global basis."

The President's report said the ICBM alarm system would consist of unmanned satellites carrying infrared sensors which can detect ballistic mis-

Sherman's March Set by Negroes

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The national chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said Sunday night that Negroes may have to conduct a "Sherman's March" through the South before they can obtain freedom.

John Lewis, a Negro of Troy, Ala., told the first anniversary meeting of the Pine Bluff movement, which is sponsored by SNCC, "We may have to call on people to engage in all-out war before we get freedom. We may have to split the South into a thousand pieces."

Lewis later said he did not mean that a "Sherman's March" would include guns and violence as did the original march of General Sherman through the South during the Civil War.

Lewis said the march would be made with spirits and bodies, but would be as persistent as Sherman's.

Lewis told the crowd, mostly Negroes, that "We want to be treated as people and not things. We've had a lot of order and no law. We must make it clear tonight that we want our freedom and we want it all and we want it now."

"Not one person is going to give us anything," he continued. "You've got to stand up and fight for it."

Lewis predicted renewed and intensified civil rights demonstrations about Feb. 1, including a walk-out at public schools in quite a few school systems.

"You'll see old people and young people alike getting into the streets again, demanding our freedom," Lewis said.

The Pine Bluff movement was started a year ago when eight Arkansas AMN students, led by William W. Hansen Jr. of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Rev. Ben Grinage of Pine Bluff began civil rights demonstration at Pine Bluff.

Civil Rights Complaints Are Heard

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Civil Rights complaints were aired for four hours Saturday before the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

The complaints alleged voting irregularities, interference in voter registration drives and discrimination in public accommodations.

James E. Youngdahl, chairman of the committee, said transcripts of complaints at the open hearing would be sent to the Commission on Civil Rights. He said the committee would study the complaints, but emphasized that it could only make recommendations to the full commission.

Five representatives of the anti-segregation Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee alleged that law enforcement officers in Phillips and Lincoln counties interfered with SNCC attempts to get Negroes to register to vote, Youngdahl said.

John Bradford said in response to a question, said he did not know of anyone trying to stop Negroes from buying poll taxes in Phillips County. SNCC efforts were focused on Helena, county seat of Phillips County, during the last part of 1963.

Gene Wirges, former publisher of the Morrilton Democrat, alleged voting irregularities in Conway County. He suggested there had been some improper counting of ballots and an abnormally high proportion of absentee voting.

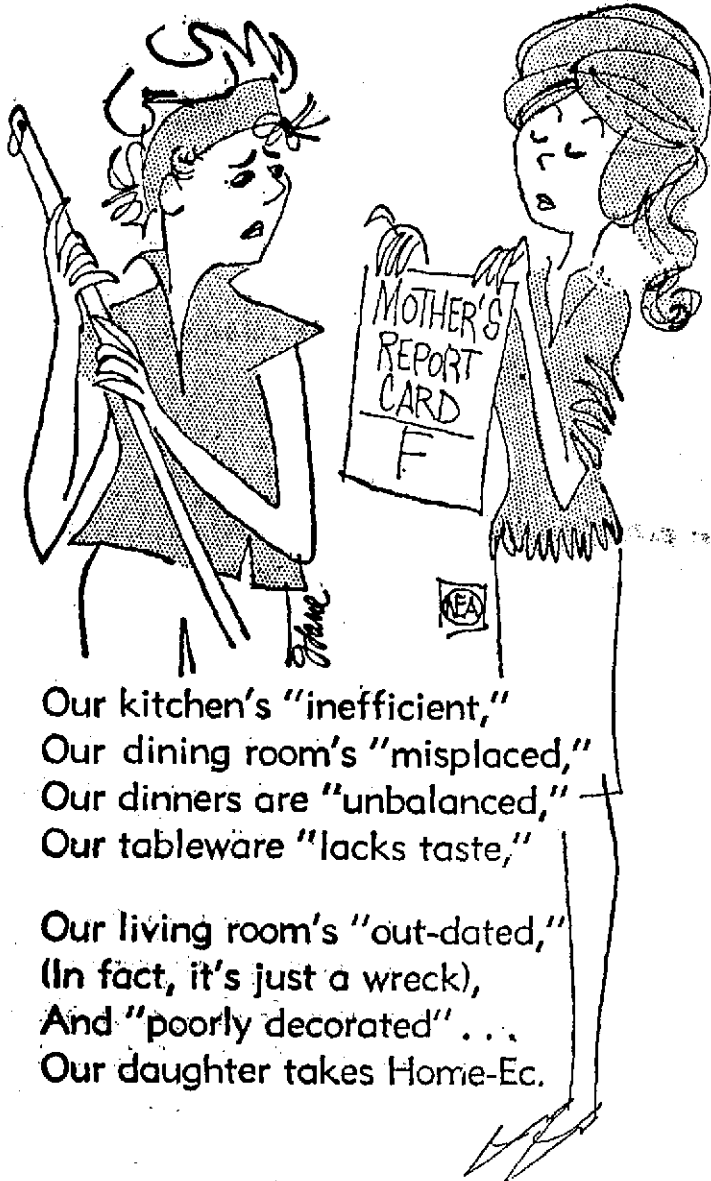

Wirges told the committee that he had appeared before several groups and persons with his complaints. "The thing that disturbs me most is that none of these people denies that voting irregularities exist but that none of them wants to do anything about it," he said.

Raymond Carter, a Little Rock Negro who is a sophomore at the University of Arkansas, said that the university was keeping its dormitories for white students only.

Carter said the university does not provide Negro male students with housing, and they must find off-campus housing themselves. He said off-campus housing was provided for Negro women students.

American Missionary Is Killed

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — An American woman missionary has been killed and another wounded by rebels waging war on Christian missions and the central Congo government in the southwestern Congo province of Kwilu.

The central government said it had documentary proof the rebels, led by former Education Minister Pierre Mulele, are supported by Red China.

The government declared a state of emergency in Kwilu province and rushed 450 soldiers into the region. It said important measures would be taken, "the nature of which will be revealed at an opportune moment."

Irene Farrel, 43, of Eagle Butte, S.D., Sunday was reported killed by a rebel's arrow during a raid on a Baptist mission at the village of Mangungu, 300 miles southeast of Leopoldville.

The Congo inland missionary in Leopoldville reported that Ruth Hege, 58, of Wellington, Ohio, also attached to the Mangungu station, was wounded. Latest reports indicated she was still in the area.

The guerrillas killed three Roman Catholic priests last week.

Seven American missionaries and two children were removed by U.N. helicopters Friday from Kande, in southern Kwilu, after guerrillas burned their station.

The Rev. Peter Buller of Mountain Lake, Minn., who fled with his wife and two children from their mission 20 miles northwest of Mangungu, said he spotted Miss Farrel signaling for help Wednesday when he flew over her mission. She could only be reached from the air by helicopter because there is no landing strip.

"She and her friends were out on the lawn," he said. "Then we got a letter telling us she was dead—killed by an arrow."

Another missionary, Miss Bertha Miller of Glendale, Calif., arrived in Leopoldville Sunday and said planes spotted Miss Hege waving for help.

Miss Miller said she was

Mrs. Hattie M. Ard, 28, of forced to flee her mission in Kamayala after rebels set fire to grass in the area and the flames threatened the station.

Mulele's forces were reported to have spread their revolt in the past few days into Kwango province, south of Kwilu, where Catholic and Protestant missions also have been attacked.

Mulele was also reported by Congolese Planning Minister Cleophas Kamitatu to be moving raiders into Kasai Unity province on the east.

The Rev. Mr. Muller said villagers are either actively aiding Mulele or supporting him for fear of being killed by partisans of the 34-year-old ex-minister. Mulele's army of 400-600 armed men was reported to have grown after his attacks on mission stations last week.

Refugees believe Mulele, who spent several months in Peking last year, is trying to wipe out all traces of law and order in the region.

Reports indicated that the guerrillas have a small quantity of modern weapons but are relying mostly on spears, bows and poisoned arrows, smoothbore muskets and "Molotov cocktails."

North Little Rock, was killed Sunday when the brakes failed on the car in which she was riding and it struck a tree near a North Little Rock street.

The car was driven by Mrs. Ard's sister, Jeanette Lakey Woods, 20, also of North Little Rock, who was reported in serious condition at a North Little Rock hospital.

North Little Rock officers found the body of an unidentified man Sunday near the Arkansas River after he apparently died of burns in a grass fire.

North Little Rock firemen extinguished the fire shortly before dawn Sunday but did not see the victim.

The deaths Sunday brought to 14 the number of persons who died violent deaths in Arkansas during the week ended Sunday at midnight.

Ten persons, three of them pedestrians, died as a result of traffic accidents during the week, one man died when the gas tank on a car on which he was working exploded, two persons died as a result of fires and one person died when the tractor he was driving overturned.

Powell Clayton, a resident of Kansas, who came south as a federal army officer, was the first governor of Arkansas elected after the adoption of the 1868 constitution.

Received With Satisfaction

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio said today France's diplomatic recognition of Red China "has been received with satisfaction in the Soviet Union."

In a broadcast heard in London, a commentator added: "The Soviet people regard it as an important political act which contributes to the consolidation of the principles of peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems." Moscow and Peking recently have been engaged in a battle for leadership of the Communist world, but the commentator said, "Our country has invariably stood and continues to stand for the recognition by all states of the Chinese People's Republic and for the restitution of her legitimate rights in the United Nations"

For comfortable, attractive at-home clothes for holiday entertaining, cotton takes top honors. ## DOROTHY DIX

THIS HUSBAND HASN'T ANY RIGHTS

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: Why must I, the husband, do all the washing, ironing, scrubbing and cooking in our home? My wife's excuse is that, being employed on the afternoon turn at the plant, she has no time.

I come straight home at five, tidy things, get dinner for our three children then wait up till one a.m. for her. It's three before we get to bed and I'm up at seven, getting the two eldest children ready for school and me to work. Before I leave I've got to ready the car for my wife—gas and oil checked and so forth. The car is in her name; so is everything else. If I so much as say "Boo!" she'll fly to divorce court which she has done twice already. Funny thing, I love my wife, don't want a divorce and of course, am devoted to our children.

But it does seem as if I should have some rights. My wife is 29, I'm 35. Neither of us goes anywhere but to work. She makes good money; so do I. But what are we getting out of life?

—Help
Dear Helen: It sounds as if your wife wore the pants in your house. Since you're making "good money" her place is home with the children. Caring for them and the house is her job, not yours. Strike out for your rights.

Should your wife again threaten to go to divorce court, warn her that any judge, given the facts as you stated them, would decide in your favor.

Even then, unless you take charge, you'll still be put upon by others. Be a man! Stand firm and say, "I'm boss around here and you do as I want or else!" Deal with her as you would a spoiled child for that's what she is. Not until this is done will you, or she, get anything out of life. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Ideal Wife" and "Ideal Husband."

Dear Helen: I hope you can help me with a difficult problem I can't seem to solve. I am 13 and have an older sister who is 15. Once we happened to be in a big department store and my sister asked my stepfather for $10 with which to buy a bathing suit. He gave it to her. Now I am asking for $9 to buy a pair of stretch pants and he won't give it to me.

Last year my sister asked my mother for a pair of pants and got them. If my mother caught me writing this, she would slap my face. Should I run away or

ABC on Your Personal Deductions

EDITOR'S NOTE—One of the biggest questions surrounding income tax returns revolves about the issue of deductions for personal expenses. Here are the ABC's covering personal expenses in filing your 1963 income tax return, last of five articles.

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press Writer

This is an ABC on deductions for personal expenses in filing your 1963 income tax return. Some rules:

1. You can take the standard deduction allowed everyone filing a return even though your expenses were not as much as the standard deduction gives you. And you don't have to list your expenses to prove you had them.

The standard deduction is generally 10 per cent of your income up to a limit of $1,000.

2. Or, if your expenses were actually more than the standard deduction allows, you can claim them in full but in that case you must prove you had the expenses by itemizing them.

3. Anyone can use form 1040 in making a return. Anyone itemizing must use it and cannot use 1040A.

4. Only under-$5,000 income people can use the tax table to find their tax without figuring it. But no matter how much your income — under or over $5,000 — you must figure your or see the owner of the local gift shop. Hands off; don't do for him. The more he does on his own, the stronger his recuperative powers will be.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

own tax if you itemize expenses. 5. The over-$5,000 income people must figure their own tax, whether they take the standard deduction or itemize.

If you're one of the over-$5,000 people figuring your own tax—provided you're single or a married couple filing jointly—you take your standard deduction this way:

You subtract 10 per cent of your income—up to a limit of $1,000—before applying the tax to what's left.

But note these two rules:

1. A married couple filing separate returns can also deduct 10 per cent of their income for expenses but only up to a limit of $500 on each return.

2. When a husband and wife file separate returns and one of them itemizes deductions, both must itemize and then both must use form 1040.

The list of deductions is far too long for full treatment here. Those deductions, and various rules for them, cover many pages of government guides. What follows is an attempt to condense much information but not all.

You'll get some information from the IRS instruction sheet. But if you need more than you find there or here then, for 40 cents, buy from the IRS the highly-detailed, 144-page government booklet: "Your Federal Income Tax."

For instance, you may need that booklet if you want to deduct for travel and entertainment expenses. The government, beginning in 1963, tightened up on the rules covering such deductions. You may need detailed information.

Also on your 1963 return you can claim a deduction, too involved for this space, for what is called retirement credit. Also you may need more information on medical and medicine expenses.

Some expenses you can deduct:

Contributions to charitable, religious, or educational organizations, such as the Community Chest, Salvation Army, churches, Red Cross, heart and cancer associations, tuberculosis societies and gifts—but not dues—to the YMCA, YWCA, YMHA, YWHA, and the American Legion.

VII

The boy's face sobered. "You have a good face. My grandmother said so. Also my mother, sir, she would not hear of calling the police."

"Why?"

"She was three years in an internment camp in California, almost four. Now she will not even keep a bird in a cage."

He pointed to the samurai sword. "That was my mother's father. He was a captain. My grandmother sent it to me. She does not want me to forget the land of my ancestors. It also is an honorable land."

"Sure," I said, "there were a lot of good guys on both sides."

The old lady let fly again. Young Frank spoke to her and then again to me. "My grandmother Yamanuchi wants you to know that the helmet belonged to my father's father. He was in the 443rd Infantry."

"Go for broke," I remembered.

"Go for broke," sang the grandmother.

Her grandson translated. "My grandmother would like you to raise your right arm. Move it around, please."

It wasn't easy, but neither was it as impossible as it should have been.

Finally, Frank said, "Grandmother is happy that the ointments, the massage, and the heat helped, but still she says you are very lucky." His young face turned grave again. "Also, we think it would be well for you to go, sir."

"Sure," I said. I lay there, staring at the two of them. Some of the shock and the hurt must have shown; it was such a tight little island and I had been so happy on it, here in this safe, improbable little corner.

Frank said quickly, "My father is a good man. But sometimes we, we think he worries too much. Last night he wanted to call the police. As I have said my mother would not let him. Today, if he is not busy at the market, it is possible he will worry too much some more."

I grinned at the boy. "I will need some clothes," I said. "I will bet your clothes," Frank told me.

Frank returned with my clothes in his arms. The suit had been brushed clean and pressed, but there was an amazing patch on the right shoulder where I had slammed along the road. The two materials didn't match very closely, but the stitches that put the two patches together were careful and fine, and so was the patch on my freshly ironed shirt.

"Frank," I said, "I don't know how I'll ever thank you, your mother, your grandmother."

"Please," he said, "you must hurry. In 10 minutes my Uncle Joe Ishida is taking a load of flowers into town. He will drive you. He also was in the 443rd, and he knows you have the Navy Cross."

Apparently it had been quite a family affair. "You'll like Uncle Joe," Frank told me. His grin was suddenly full and impish. "Uncle Joe's one of the good guys," he said.

Uncle Joe let me out at the side door to the hotel. From the front I was fairly presentable. I don't think any one saw me from the rear.

In my room I stripped to the waist and assessed the damage in the mirror. My right shoulder resembled a piece of marbled meat gone bad, and I could smell the ointment that had been rubbed into it. But the bumps on my head weren't too obvious if I overlooked the headache which appeared to have become a built-in accessory.

I was debating a scalding tub versus some nourishment when there was a sharp rap on the door.

"Who is it?"

"Western Union."

I went to my suitcase and got out the gun Lieutenant Valerich had brain-washed me into leaving behind without my ever realizing the effectiveness of his sermon. It was in my hand when I opened the door.

The fat man from Solly's appeared more surprised than I was. I didn't wait for any tentative messages. "I'd rather blow your head off than look at you," I told him. "The same goes for your friend Solly. Now beat it."

Whatever his hand was holding in his jacket pocket he nev-

Bob Strampe Wins Honors in Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Strampe, winner of the $15,000 men's championship in the All-Star bowling tournament, became a professional bowler after he was fired from his job as an aeronautical engineer.

Strampe, who now lives in Detroit, had taken a long weekend to compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament in St. Louis in 1959.

Then came an unexpected long distance telephone call from his boss in Minneapolis. His advice, Strampe recalls, was:

"Bowl good, because you are not working here any more."

Strampe, then 27 and newly married, decided to turn to the only other thing he knew—bowling.

Since that fateful decision the slender, balding Strampe has become a top ranking pro with an annual income he says is around $15,000.

Strampe won bowling's big prestige title by shooting a fat 257-225-203—685 series against a quickly-wit Tommy Tuttle.

The chubby, likeable little newcomer from Rural Hall, N.C., mustered a 220-170-226—616 series, but it was really no contest after the fifth frame of the middle game.

Tuttle, virtually unknown before this event opened Jan. 15, received a runnerup prize of $8,000.

The Don Carter family of St. Louis won another All-Star trophy.

This time it was Laverne Carter who took the $5,000 championship check. Her husband, four-time All-Star champion, coached his high-kicking blonde wife from a box seat during the finals. He had been eliminated from the tournament before the semifinals.

Mrs. Carter poured in a 247-255-180—683 series as she easily defeated Evelyn Teal of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Teal, 40, who has a 21-year old daughter at the University of Florida, rolled a brilliant 184-181-244—609 series and won $3,000.

AM&N Beats Best Team in Nation

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas AM&N's red hot Golden Lions sent the No. 1 small college basketball team in the nation, Grambling, home with its first loss Saturday. The Lions won 129-124 in overtime.

Guard James Mack Allen provided most of the spark for AM&N, dumping in 56 points. His performance tied a gym record and was far above the work of Grambling's top scorer Willis Reed, who had 36.

Harold Blevins dumped in 36 for AM&N.

Ouachita, pushing its conference record to 9-1, was led by Leon Clements with 36 points and Bill Heaton with 20. The Tigers got the lead for good midway through the first half.

Tech also went ahead to stay in the first half. The Wonder Boys have an 8-2 record in the AIC. Arkansas College is now 4-6 in conference play. Top scorer for Tech was Bill Boley with 20, and AC's Bill Baxter hit the same total.

At Monticello, the big guns in A&M's win over Southern State were Solon Mobley and Kelton Busby, who hit big baskets in the last two minutes for the Muleriders.

A&M had to overcome a 35-30 Southern State lead to bring its conference mark to 3-7. Southern State is now 2-8 in the AIC. Mobley finished with 19 points, Busby with 18, and Butch Price led Southern State with 15.

State Teachers used a high scoring second half, pouring through 57 points after intermission, to sink College of the Ozarks. Tom Davis led Teachers with 29, and Phil Benson hit 15 for Ozarks.

Cats Avenge Earlier Defeat by Panthers

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

Leveling off their District record at 2-2, the Bobcats stalked the Panthers to a 77-69 defeat Saturday night on Magnolia's tough home court. Meanwhile, the Juniors continued their unblemished record to 4-0 by downing their opposition 40-34.

Not to be outdone in any way by Magnolia, the Bobcats either matched their points or outscored them in every quarter. This was the first victory in conference play that Hope has been able to take away from their home court. Previously they have fallen to Malvern and Camden.

Scoring for the Cats: Jerry Burnett was high with 19 points, Dan Jones had 18, Paul Henley 15, Johnny Honeycutt 14, Bill Reinhardt 7, and Larry Thrash and Mike Archer had 2 apiece. Christian had 27 for Magnolia.

Hope's Juniors, plagued by fouls, had to hold off a last quarter effort by Magnolia in order to pull their match out of the fire.

Wilson was high with 13, Pariss had 10, Turner 6, Westbrook 5, Sallee 4, and Middlebrooks 2.

At Guernsey, the Junior Girls came away with the runner-up trophy for the Hempstead County Tournament after falling to host Guernsey 42-28. Debbie Connelly had 22 points, and Barbara Thompson had 6.

This week will be a busy one for basketballers. It begins Tuesday night, when the Junior and Senior Girls and "B" Boys go to Guernsey. Then, all five teams play Friday night. The Girls and "B" Boys host Bodcaw at Jones Field House, while the Junior and Senior Boys travel to Fairview for a conference round.

Saturday night, the Crossett Junior and Senior Boys do battle with Hope in another District bout.

Records Fall in Indoors Track Meet

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A flock of indoor track and field records—most of the obscure variety—were broken or tied in four weekend meets as Olympic hopefuls from many nations heightened their preparations for Tokyo, only to have the thunder stolen by a couple of Down Under distance men.

Tiny Albie Thomas of Australia, who equalled the three-mile mark in Toronto Friday, and New Zealand's Bill Baile, who just missed the two-mile record in Portland Saturday, were the stars of the indoor circuit despite the record efforts of sprinter Bob Hayes and veteran hurdler Hayes Jones.

The 5-foot-4, 124-pound Thomas equalled the world indoor three-mile record in 13:26.4 while Baile finished the two-mile in 8:31.9, just 1.2 seconds off the record.

Jones, the Detroit veteran who now has won 49 consecutive indoor hurdles events, rushed to a 5.9 time over four hurdles and 50 yards in Toronto, breaking his own world record of six seconds flat.

The barrel-chested Hayes, competing in Albuquerque, ran a six second flat 60-yard dash, equalling the record.

In Winnipeg, Tom Robinson of the Bahamas, established a world record for the rarely-run 300-meters, finishing in 35 seconds flat. Other top performances there included a 61-2 shot put by Parry O'Brien of Pasadena and Bill Crother's 1:09.7 run in the 600 yards.

Ralph Boston scored a double in the Oregon meet, winning the 60-yard hurdles in 7.3 and the broad jump with 25-8. Top performances in Toronto also included 16-foot pole vaults by John Pennell of Northeast Louisiana State and Jeff Chase, Santa Clara, Calif., a 2:08.3 effort in the 1,000 yards by Crothers and a 1:12.3 500 by George Kerr of Jamaica.

Three Toronto girls, Cathy Chapman, Nancy McCredie and Abie Hoffman, established women's indoor records. The pert Miss Chapman ran the women's 50 yard hurdles in 6.7, Miss McCredie tossed the shot 52-11

Saratoga Takes Two Titles in County Meet

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The golden year of basketball at Loyola of Chicago might wind up gold-plated. The glittering Ramblers began the season—the 50th anniversary of the start of intercollegiate basketball at the school—as the NCAA champions. With four of their five starters returning, the Ramblers were conceded to have one of the nation's top teams again.

The past week, though, has slowed the gold rush at Loyola to a stroll. Wichita, one of the two teams which beat the champions in 31 games last season, handed the Ramblers their second consecutive defeat 80-76 Saturday night.

Coupled with last Monday's 83-65 loss to Memphis State, the latest setback undoubtedly will drop Loyola from its number three ranking to near the bottom of the top ten and possibly out of it altogether.

Ironically, Loyola was the only losing top ten team Saturday night. Second-ranked Michigan downed Michigan State 91-77; unbeaten Davidson, No. 4, kept rolling 105-73 against Woford; and Kentucky, rated fifth, knocked over Georgia Tech 79-62.

Seventh-ranked Villanova overwhelmed Penn 72-48; Duke, No. 8, squeeze by Tennessee 67-65 after two overtimes, and Oregon State, tied for 10th with Wichita, whipped Stanford 65-57.

UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt and unbeaten DePaul, ninth, didn't play.

The Wheatshockers added to Loyola's problems with acute accuracy from the foul line. After the Ramblers tied the game 63-63 with seven minutes remaining, Wichita dropped in 13 straight free throws. Hunter led all scorers with 36 points while Dave Stallworth had 29 for Wichita.

Michigan's Wolverines increased their Big Ten mark to 5-0 and its over-all record to 14-1 as sophomore Cazzie Russell tallied 34 points. Michigan led by only 40-38 at halftime, but pulled away from Michigan State in the second half.

Fred Hetzel sparked Davidson to its 15th straight triumph. He scored 29 points and snared 21 rebounds, two more than the entire Wofford team.

Kentucky avenged an earlier loss to Georgia Tech but needed two quick baskets from Terry Mobley for insurance late in the second half. The Yellow Jackets, who led at the half 39-37, fell behind 61-48. Then they rallied and sliced "the Wildcats" lead to seven points. That's when Mobley hit his clutch field goals.

In other games, Utah State whipped Brigham Young 105-90, Wyoming downed Denver 65-56, Ohio State defeated Purdue 98-87, Illinois beat Arizona State 97-78 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 78-76.

Memphis State knocked off Mississippi State 81-66, Houston nosed out Baylor 61-60, Texas Western downed West Texas State 61-53, St. Bonaventure whipped Pan American 84-77 and Pitt walloped Army 86-64. Duquesne defeated Xavier of Ohio 83-76 Sunday.

Moves Made to Establish More Safety

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sport Editor

INNSBRUCK Austria (AP) — The Winter Olympics moved on to the conference table stage today after a return to the drawing board produced added safety measures expected to end an unprecedented series of training accidents that have claimed two lives.

At the conference table, officials were elected to tackle these problems:

1. A protest by the U.S. ski team that seedings based on competition in European events were unfair to the Americans.

2. The Canada-Russia cold war stemming from Soviet charges that the Canadian hockey team plays the game too rough.

3. South Africa's racial policies, and the country's eligibility for the 1964 Summer Olympics in Tokyo.

Meanwhile, competition got underway two days before the official opening of the games with a pair of elimination ice hockey games, and skiers and sledders returned to practice on courses renovated by the weekend session on the drawing board.

New lips had been added to the dangerous curves of the toboggan run, two extra compulsory gates were installed along the men's downhill, the women's downhill received three extra gates and the trunks of trees lining both courses were heavily padded with straw.

Ross Milne, a young Australian skier, was killed Saturday when he careened off the downhill course and crashed head-on into a tree. On Wednesday, a British tobogganner, Kazimierz Kay-Skrzypski, died of injuries received when his sled shot off the lipless chute.

In Sunday's practices, a pair of British bobsledders hurtled their two-man sled down the track in record time. John Balfanz of Minneapolis was the best of the American ski jumpers and U.S. women speed skaters were outclassed by the Russians.

Britain's Anthony Nash and Robin Dixon made one run down the course in 1:06.06, bettering the time of 1:06.42 set by Italy's Eugenio Monti in last year's world championships. The British team also had the best two-run time of 2:13.20.

At the jumping site, Balfanz made a stylish leap of 251 feet, and Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn., and Ansten Samuelsen of Boulder, Colo., soared 246, but all were well back of Norway's Torger Brandtzaeg. Brandtzaeg made four jumps ranging from 254 to 257 feet.

Russian women swept to the first four places in the 500-meter speed skating event and took the first two places in the 1,500. Lidia Skoblikova, Russian double gold medal winner in 1960, bettered her Olympic record in the 1,500 and Irina Yegorova took the 500.

The top American in the 500 was Marie Lawler of Minneapolis, who finished fifth, one place in front of Janice Smith of Rochester, N.Y. In the 1,500, Jeanne Ashworth of Lake Placid, N.Y., finished eighth and Miss Smith ninth.

NLR Rated Top Team in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Little Rock held firmly to its No. 1 ranking in the Associated Press Arkansas High School basketball poll this week, for the third consecutive time.

The Wildcats have been a unanimous choice for the top spot in balloting by Arkansas sportswriters and broadcasters, the past two weeks.

Jonesboro remained in second place, though only by a three point margin over third place Blytheville, which traded rankings with Fort Smith, now fourth.

Little Rock Central, in ninth place last week, shot up to fifth, passing Valley Springs, Fayetteville, Paragould and Pine Bluff. Valley Springs moved from eighth place into a tie for sixth with Pine Bluff. The Zebras were in sixth place last week.

Paragould, ranked fifth last week, dropped into eighth, followed by Fayetteville in ninth. The Bulldogs were seventh last week.

El Dorado, not even on the chart last week, moved into 10th, replacing Harrison.

Arkansas State Dumps Missourians

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) —

Arkansas State, in a non-conference play, dumped Warrensburg, Mo., State 87-84 in basketball at Warrensburg Saturday.

Jerry Rook led the Indians with 30 points. Warrensburg's Bud Vallino had 26.

Warrensburg tied up the game 10 times, once with five minutes left. A-State led 49-40 at the half.

19 Forest Fires of 70 Believed Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventy forest fires — at least 19 of them deliberately set — swept across 2,662 acres of dry forest and grass land in Arkansas Sunday.

State Forester Fred Lang said nearly half of the loss was at Gurdon, where 1,043 acres of valuable timber belonging to the Ozan Lumber Co., Gurdon Lumber Co. and two private landowners was destroyed.

Lang said fires were set in 11 places in that area.

He said another eight fires were set during the search for a man a Clarendon couple said forced them to drive to Hot Springs. The hunt was started in a wooded area northeast of Hot Springs after the man fled from a service station where the party stopped for gas.

Those fires destroyed 231 acres, Lang said.
